

experienceLab

Current & Future Trends: User Research

Sabrina Duda

Head of Insight

12 July 2022

experienceLab

Sabrina Duda

Head of Insight

MSc Psychology
Engineering Psychology/Cognitive
Ergonomics & Computer Science

20+ years of experience in UX
Author & speaker & mentor

ExperienceLab is a people-centred design and innovation agency.

We help organisations put people at the centre of design, making products and services better for real life.

From digital UX testing and new product features through to total service design, we bring teams together to co-create new and improved services, experiences and touchpoints.

Who we're working with

Public sector:

Ministry of Defence

Home Office

Department for Education

“UX research itself is a massive trend - searches have grown 7300% in the last 10 years.”

<https://medium.com/the-full-stack-researcher/7-surprising-trends-disrupting-ux-research-in-2021-2f27d86bb712>

'UX Researcher' trending

Worldwide search

ux researcher

Trend 1

User researcher has become a recognised specialist role.

Much more jobs for user researchers.

“For the first time since we launched our Salary Survey, we’ve allocated a separate section specifically for User Research due to the ever-demanding increase for both permanent and freelance positions.”

Zebra Salary Report, 2017/2018

<https://zebrapeople.com/resource/digital-salary-survey/>

Trend 2

Much more research is done!

...a need to organise research findings.

Trend 3

User research is more strategic.

Researchers more involved in earlier phases of product development.

More discovery research.

From 'Usability' to 'User Experience'

Worldwide search

usability

user experience

2004

2009

2015

2021

2012

Marty Cagan's #1 Trend 2022

"Most teams are comfortable asking about usability, but the hard thing is not usability, the hard thing is evaluating value."

"Measuring product value will be recognized as more important than measuring usability."

Marty Cagan, 2022

<https://sprig.com/blog/marty-cagans-6-product-trends-for-2022>

More cross-functional teams.

UX research will be more integrated with other functions.
More collaboration.

Trend 4

Much more research tools on the market!

Both for qualitative and quantitative research.

Trend 5

More frequent customer feedback.

Feedback culture.

Trend 6

Certainly not a trend...

User Inexperience

MAY 1, 2017

Thank you!

Sabrina Duda

Head of Insight

sabrina.duda@serco.com

